

What's your Ascendant or rising sign?

Your Ascendant (or rising sign) is the sign that is rising over the horizon at the moment you are born. Your Ascendant creates the chart wheel of your horoscope and determines your house cusp degrees, and into which of the 12 houses your planets fall. Your Ascendant is your “party face” or the outer personality “filter”. It creates other people’s first impressions of you, so if possible your birthtime should be accurate to within 4 minutes of your birth.

When you read your monthly (or other daily or weekly horoscopes!), why not read your Sun sign and your Ascendant to gain the best insights – just like astrologers do!

Below is a table of approximate birthtimes for the Southern Hemisphere.
